STILL THEY DEBATE THE CURRENCY BILL

MR. CARLISLE'S MEASURE LAUDED AND CONDEMNED

Warner of New York Favors the Measure While Johnson of Indiana, Ellis of Kentucky War Against—Senator Turpie Renews His Opposition to the Nicaragua Canal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—As soon as the regular routine had been disposed of in the house yesterday, on motion of Mr. Springer of Illinois, the house went into executive session and the debate on the currency bill was resumed. Mr. Johnson of Indiana, one of the minority members of the banking and currency committee, opened the debate with a vigorous speech in opposition to the Carlisle bill. Admitting the defects in our currency system, he said, their correction could not be obtained by the passage of a bill along the lines suggested by the banking and currency committee. It was much easier to attack the present system than offer a safe substitute for it. The present system had given the country a greenback currency which enabled the government to carry on the war, and it produced a market for our bonds in the hour of danger and peril. The currency it produced had never been questioned. While remedial legislation might be advisable, this was no time for experimental legislation. There was no need of indecent speed. Congress in this matter could well afford to make haste slowly.

Mr. Warner (dem., N. Y.) then took the floor in support of the pending measure, saying bankers had indorsed the principles upon which the Carlisle bill was based and in many cases had approved its details.

Mr. Ellis (dem., Ky.) was the first democratic member of the banking and currency committee to attack the Carlisle bill. He was convinced its passage would remedy none of the defects of the present financial system. For thirty years the democratic party had condemned the national bank system, yet it was now proposed not only to perpetuate the system, but to perpetuate it in a form more objectionable than that in which it at present existed. Mr. Ellis in conclusion criticised the democratic party for not passing a tariff bill for revenue only; in not repealing outright the 10 per cent tax on state banks and in not restoring silver to its position as a money metal on the same terms with gold.

Mr. Terry (dem., Ark.) gave notice of an amendment to make circulating notes redeemable by the banks issuing them in equal parts in gold and silver.

A resolution was passed to allow the governor of New Hampshire and staff on the floor of the house to-day during the exercises in connection with the dedication of the statues of Webster and Stark. Adjourned.

ALABAMA INVESTIGATION.

Senator Allen Offers a Resolution to Probe Into Recent Elections.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—In the senate yesterday Senator Pasco reported from the committee on public lands a bill extending the act relating to abandoned military reservations, which was passed without division. A senate bill was reported and passed amending the act of May 18, 1894, giving permission to construct a bridge over the Missouri river near Jefferson City, Mo. The bill made certain changes in regard to the draw span of the bridge.

Senator Allen (pop., Neb.) introduced a resolution to investigate the elections in Alabama. It provides for a committee of five to be appointed at once.

Mr. Bate (dem., Tenn.) then called up the bill to establish a national military park at the battlefield of Shiloh. The senate then took up the Nicaragua canal bill. Mr. Turpie, who had the floor when the senate adjourned Tuesday, yielded it to Mr. Cullom, who desired to make some remarks on the subject. He supported the measure with much earnestness. He believed the importance and value of the undertaking to be greater and beyond any consideration of the actual cost and expense. The United States should not neglect the opportunity to have the canal built within reasonable time and should also control it.

Mr. Perkins (rep., Cal.) then spoke in favor of the canal.

Senator Turpie then made a critical analysis of the various provisions of the bill, and during the course of his remarks was frequently interrupted by Mr. Morgan, who in some instances questioned the correctness on the senator's assertions. Just before concluding his speech Mr. Turpie offered an amendment in the nature of a substitute on the pending bill providing for the appointment of a board of three engineers to make a survey and estimate of the cost of the construction of the canal before any bonds are guaranteed, and this he declared was as far as congress ought to go this session.

Senator Morgan gave notice that he intended to reply to the remarks of the senator from Indiana, and the senate adjourned.

Members Who Will Oppose the Bill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—An unexpectedly strong opposition to the Carlisle currency bill now before the house was disclosed by the list of those who have asked for time to speak on the measure. Two lists have been made, one for members of the banking committee who wish to be heard and the other for members not on the committee. The committee list shows the members divided on party lines, except Representative Ellis (dem., Ky.), who has asked for time to speak against the bill. The other list shows fourteen members who will speak for the bill and thirty against it. Of the thirty against it eighteen are democrats.

New Ruling by Pension Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Several thousand pension claims will be affected by a ruling just made by Assistant Secretary of the Interior Reynolds, inaugurating a new practice in the consideration of cases of widows against whom proof of immorality exists. Judge Reynolds decided that when the commissioner of pensions has satisfactory evidence that a widow has been guilty of such immoral conduct as results in refusal of her application or termination of her pension, any child or children of the soldier under 16 years of age at the time the widow's right to the pension ceases may be granted a pension in the same manner as if the widow's right had terminated by death or remarriage.

Japanese Treaty Favorably Reported

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The senate committee on foreign relations yesterday decided to report the Japanese treaty to the senate with the resolution that it be confirmed. Senator Morgan reported the treaty to the senate at the executive session held later in the day, but no action was taken.

No Change of Senate Rules.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The senate committee on rules was in session yesterday attended by all members. Senator Gorman announced himself as adverse to any amendment to the rules, and the two republican senators, Aldrich and Manderson, opposed a change at the present time. Nothing was decided.

MAY CAUSE A LYNCHING.

Railway Civil Engineer Shot Dead by a Miner in Colorado.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 20.—Richard Newell, chief engineer of the Midland Terminal railroad was killed at Independence, two miles from Cripple Creek, yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in a dispute over the right of way, A. C. Vanhouten, a miner, doing the shooting. The trouble was caused by a claim for $25 which the company had paid to partners of Vanhouten. Vanhouten refused to move his cabin, and arming himself concealed himself there. Newell led the assault on the cabin and as he advanced received two barrels of buckshot in the breast, dying instantly. Unless reinforcements arrive a lynching is likely.

Irrigation Legislation Outlined.

KEARNEY, Neb., Dec. 20.—The second annual state irrigation convention came to a harmonious conclusion last night. The day was devoted chiefly to the adoption of resolutions. These recommend the enactment by the forthcoming legislature of a carefully prepared statute providing for the creation of a state irrigation commission. The senate bill, introduced by Senator Allen of Nebraska, providing for irrigation survey of the great plains and semi-arid lands of the United States, is indorsed. I. N. Fort, North Platte, was elected president.

Driven to Suicide by Remorse.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 20.—Henry Schultz yesterday confessed himself an incendiary and said he was driven by remorse to attempt suicide last week. He set fire two years ago to the barn of a man named Brennecke in which fourteen cows and a large amount of farm machinery were destroyed. He brooded over the deed until he determined on suicide. He cut his throat, but the wounds were not deep enough to cause death. The police believe he is insane.

Ban Against Secret Societies.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—At a conference of Roman Catholic priests in Brooklyn it was announced that the pope had inhibited membership by communicants of the church in the orders of Oddfellows, Knights of Pythias and Sons of Temperance. This puts these secret organizations on a par with the order of Free Masons. Membership is interdicted under penalty of expulsion from the church.

For Twenty-Ninth Encampment.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 20.—The executive council of the G. A. R. at its meeting yesterday declared the twenty-ninth encampment of the G. A. R. would be held here during the week beginning Sept. 8. The dedication of the Chattanooga battlefields occurs Sept. 19. It was decided to fix the date of the encampment so that the two trips could be taken together.

Civic Federation at Work.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Eight indictments were voted yesterday by the grand jury against men alleged to be guilty of election frauds Nov. 6 in the Thirtieth precinct of the Thirty-fourth ward in the recent election. Three of the individuals are policemen. This action is the first fruit of the work of the Civic Federation.

Football Player Dies.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 20.—George S. Young, who played the right guard for the Frankfort football eleven and who was injured Nov. 30 in a game with another local eleven, is dead.

FIGHTS INTERRUPT WORK ON THE LEVEE

THEY ARE HAVING A LIVELY TIME AT NEW ORLRANS

Trouble Is Caused By the Ship Agents Trying to Supplant White Laborers With Colored Men—Arbitration Committee Decides Against Massillon Miners.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 20.—There was another crisis yesterday in cotton labor on the levee, and as a result forty ships are lying idle at their wharves and the cotton trade is almost paralyzed. The ship agents think the crisis is only for a few days and the result will be of lasting benefit to the port. Several months ago all the white screwmen refused to work with colored labor, and the ship agents abandoned the negro. The white longshoremen took a similar step on their own account and the ship agents yielded to them also. Several weak attempts were made to restore the negro on the levee, but he was driven off by force and his tools thrown into the river. The ship agents have obtained an injunction from the United States Circuit court and the police board has dismissed the captains who failed to do their duty in the levee riots in November. The ship agents and stevedores held consultations with the colored longshoremen, which ended in the latter publishing a declaration they would cut the price on work on the levee from 50 to 40 cents. The cotton people took advantage of this declaration, and announced that after Tuesday they would employ longshoremen, irrespective of color or membership in unions, at the reduced price of 40 cents an hour. The white longshoremen were at their posts at an early hour yesterday, but would not go to work at reduced wages. The white screwmen then quit work, making the strike general so far as the whites are concerned. The colored men were not prepared to handle both branches of work, therefore no work was done. The ship agents now propose to fight the screwmen as well as the longshoremen, and will go to work to-day with all the labor they can muster. They have applied for police protection and will face all difficulties, as a triumph will end the troubles by which the cotton trade of this city has been hampered for years past.

DEFEAT FOR MASSILLON MINERS.

Arbitration Committee Decides the Contest in Favor of Operators.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 20.—The Massillon arbitration committee yesterday decided in the dispute between miners and operators in favor of the latter. The report abolishes the heretofore existing differential of 15 cents and places the Massillon district on the same basis as the Hocking Valley. It is declared the operators have proved their ability to obtain men to man the mines for 60 cents; that there is no reason why the screens here should be smaller than elsewhere; the high price has excluded Massillon coal from the lake trade; being harder, the coal has a greater percentage of lump, and it is no more difficult, all things considered, to mine Massillon coal than any other.

Favor Compulsory Arbitration.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Chief Arthur of the Engineers' and Chief Clark of the Conductors' brotherhoods favored federal arbitration before the house committee on labor yesterday, and the former also favored making it compulsory.

Will Join the Federation.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 20.—Labor leaders predict the secession of miners, glassworkers and brassworkers and from the Knights of Labor to join the American Federation of Labor.

To Go to Indianapolis Jan. 1.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The new executive board of the American Federation of Labor meets here Jan 1, and will then transfer headquarters to Indianapolis.

Will Meet Dec. 28.

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 20.—Grand Master Sargent has called the trustees of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen to meet here Dec. 28.

The Pacific Railroad Question.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—E. Ellery Anderson, one of the government directors of the Pacific railroads, was before the house committee on Pacific railroads yesterday to urge speedy action toward a settlement of the question. He expressed the opinion that the Reilly bill for a refunding of the debt was feasible, as the roads could raise the funds to pay off the first mortgages, thus leaving the government with a first lien on the roads.

Argument to Be Concluded To-day.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 20.—Arguments in the Chicago & Northern Pacific case before Judge Jenkins in the United States court were continued yesterday and will probably be concluded to-day.

Seiter's Creditors to Meet To-day.

LEBANON, Ill., Dec. 20.—The creditors of Henry Seiter, who made an assignment of all his property Monday, Dec. 10, to M. W. Weir, his attorney, will meet in the Lebanon bank to-day.

BIG BLOCK BURNED AT MORRISTOWN, N. J.

BANK AND CLOTHING HOUSE GO UP IN SMOKE.

The Loss Will Aggregate $100,000 As the Building Was a Fine One—Seven Business Houses in Napoleonville, La., Also Destroyed—Coal Mine Ablaze.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Dec. 20—[Special]—The Babbet block burned this morning. The First National bank and a large clothing store are in the building, and the loss will reach $100,000.

NAPOLEONVILLE, Dec. 20—[Special] Seven business blocks burned last night. The loss is expected to reach $125,000.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 20.—The whole New Castle coal mine appears to be on fire and it is feared the whole mine will become a wreck, involving a loss of $500,000 to the Oregon Improvement company. Coal Creek is pouring into it, but it will take weeks to thoroughly flood it, and when the fire is extinguished it will take four or five months to pump it out. About 250 men are made idle.

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 20.—Fire at Spring Hill collieries yesterday throws out of work 400 men and involves a property loss of about $100,000. It was with the utmost difficulty the fire was prevented from working down into the mines.

ANOTHER ARMENIAN OUTBREAK.

Forty Priests Are Killed and Villages Are Laid in Ashes.

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The Cologne Gazette has published a letter from Armenia telling of fresh horrors there, including twenty-three villages laid in ashes, eleven other villages pillaged and forty priests massacred. An Armenian paper has advices from Moosh, Turkish Armenia, showing that since the appointment of a commission to inquire into the outrages Turkish oppression has greatly lessened. Many Armenians who had been arrested have been liberated. The Kurds have been held in check, and a Kurdish chief has been summoned to Constantinople.

Fell Dead on the Rostrum.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—Sir Edmund A. B. Lechmere, member of the house of commons for the Evesham division of Worcestershire, died suddenly last night. He was about to address a meeting at Pershore, Worcestershire, when he fell dead.

Giolotti Papers Shelved.

ROME, Dec. 20.—The Reforma says that the committee of the chamber of deputies to which the Giolotti documents were submitted has decided not to take any further notice of these papers.

Jungfrau Mountain Railroad.

BERNE, Dec. 20.—The council of state has granted the concession asked for to build a railroad up the Jungfrau Mountain. The capital has been subscribed in America and England.

HANGED IN EFFIGY.

Richmond Students Show Their Dislike for New President.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 20.—Congressman W. L. Wilson, without his knowledge or consent, has been figuring conspicuously in the fight of Richmond college students against their newly elected president, Prof. Boatwright. Last night President-elect Boatwright was hung in effigy. Among the most conspicuous placards which greeted citizens who were up early enough to see the figure suspended was one reciting the fact that W. L. Wilson was "elected to this presidency three years ago and declined while Boatwright accepted." Richmond college is the leading Baptist institution in the south. The newly elected president is only 26 years old.

Uncle and Niece Elope.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 20.—Joe Mankin, a white trader living in the Chickasaw nation, is here searching for his daughter who eloped with her uncle, a brother of the mother. The couple passed through here over the Santa Fe last night bound east.

Dr. McGlynn Is Forgiven.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn has made a complete recantation. His penitential season, which began Dec. 23, 1892, is over and Archbishop Corrigan will soon put him in charge of a parish.

Farmer Robbed of $4,400.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Dec. 20.—Two masked men went to the house of John Collins, near Sloan, Iowa, last night, and at the point of a revolver made him give up $4,400 in gold which he had concealed. He had kept the money in the house.

Spain Thinks We Are Not in Earnest.

MADRID, Dec. 20.—The feeling in political circles here now is that President Cleveland does not intend to raise the duty on sugar imported from Cuba into the United States, or to make other reprisals in consequence of the Cuban duties on American flour Saturday Senor Castres will introduce in the chamber of deputies a motion opposing the payment to the United States of the Mora claim.

SITUATION IN HAWAII.

Admiral Walker's Letters to the Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—In answer to a resolution Secretary Herbert sent to the senate the correspondence between the navy department and Admiral Walker relative to his mission to Hawaii last summer. It begins on March 23 last with the formal order of the secretary detaching the admiral from duty as president of the inspection board. Four days after the issue of the first formal order the admiral, while in Washington, received instructions from the secretary marked "confidential."

Admiral Walker began his reports to the department by a letter from Honolulu dated April 25, stating that he had assumed command of the station. On the 28th of the same month he wrote a long letter touching the political situation and giving his impressions. On June 23 Admiral Walker notes the receipt of formal announcement of the action of our senate toward Hawaii. He says: "This definite announcement of policy expressed in terms so clear and unmistakable has strengthened the hands of the existing government and will undoubtedly assist in the solution of certain difficult questions which attend the adoption of a constitution and the establishment of a permanent form of government."

The last letter is dated at Honolulu, Aug. 17, just prior to his departure for the United States, in accordance with the peremptory order from the secretary set out in the telegrams with which the correspondence begins. It reads as follows:

"I acknowledge to the department the receipt of its telegraphic orders to proceed with this ship to Mare Island.

"I gave orders to coal the ship, and fixed the 8th as the day of sailing. The commanding officer of the H. M. S. Champion had announced the receipt of orders to take certain deep-sea soundings in the neighborhood of the Hawaiian Islands, to aid in determining the feasibility of a cable route, and had fixed the 6th as his day of departure.

"I felt that the departure of both the Philadelphia and the Champion (the only men-of-war at Honolulu) would be, under existing political conditions, not favorable to order and security in the islands. In my opinion the republic has ample strength to maintain itself and preserve peace, and would suppress riot or counter revolution with a firm hand; but as long as foreign vessels lay in the harbor of Honolulu, ready at a moment's notice in the event of disturbance to land forces to secure the safety of life and property, it was open to the enemies of the government to say that tranquility was maintained only by the presence of those ships.

"It is a fact which should not be lost sight of that English influence is always opposed to American influence in the Hawaiian islands. It is colonial and local in its character, influenced largely, if not principally, by trade jealousies, but it is a very potent factor. The existence of this antagonism and of its influence should always be taken into account. Their expression was noticeable during the last few days of my stay at Honolulu, especially before Major Woodehouse ceased to be minister. The English and royalists were equally elated at the impeding departure of the Philadelphia.

"Had the department's orders given me discretion in the matter, I should have left the Philadelphia at Honolulu and returned to San Francisco with my staff by mail steamer, failing the arrival of the Charleston by the 18th; but as they were entirely unqualified, I had no choice but to obey them."

New Road for the Gulf.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 20.—Judge Hallett has granted the petition of Receiver Trumbull of the Gulf railway to be permitted to annul the contract with the Denver & Rio Grande for the use of the latter concern between Pueblo and Trinidad and for leave to construct an independent line between those points.

Illicit Still Found in Quebec.

QUEBEC, Dec. 20.—Considerable excitement was caused here last night by the discovery of an illicit still for the manufacture of whisky in the very heart of the city. The discovery was made through the accidental explosion of the boiler.

Fearful of a Lynching Bee.

MORGANFIELD, Ky., Dec. 20—Marshal Wilson of Brinceton brought a young man by the name of Yandall to this city and placed him in jail last night to avoid mob violence. He murdered a Mr. Baker and assaulted Mrs. Baker. The excitement is intense here.

FOURTEEN SHIPS OVERDUE AT SAN FRANCISCO.

Over Three Hundred People Are on the Missing Boats and Much Apprehension Is Felt By Those Who Have Friends Aboard Of Them.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20—There are fourteen ships overdue on this coast with over three hundred people on board and great apprehension is felt.

TO MAKE A STRONG FIGHT.

The Confession of Miss Ging's Murderer Is to Be Denied.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 20.—It is certain R. R. Odell intends to make the strongest possible kind of a fight for the life of Claus Blixt, Miss Ging's murderer. He has sent a number of witnesses for the defense out of the state, and now he denies Blixt ever made a confession. Evidence has been secured, which shows another person met Blixt at the scene of the murder and drove the horse in. This is proven by the fact that there was not the slightest trace of blood on the reins and Blixt admits he had blood on his hands. Blixt is still in a nervous state. He will not talk with any one, not even his lawyer, until he has first consulted with the sheriff. W. W. Erwin, W. E. Hale and John Day Smith form the legal combination which will defend Harry Hayward and Mr. Erwin has already spent hours going over the route which Blixt took and he has made notes of the condition of the country all around the scene of the murder. Enough is known about the murder now to warrant the statement that the full story has not been told yet.

MINERS MAY NOT QUIT.

Rescind a Motion to Strike—Will Meet Again To-day.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 20.—The miners of this district are still undecided whether to make a fight against the 20 per cent reduction in wages. At their convention in this city yesterday a motion prevailed that the cut be resisted, but later this action was reversed, and it was decided to hold another meeting here on Friday to take final action. If the miners do not strike the only rerson will be that their organization is not financially strong enough for a long fight.

Ready to Land Columbian Relics.

ROME, Dec. 20.—The commander of the United States cruiser Detroit has concluded the necessary arrangements with the United States minister, Wayne MacVeagh, and the Italian authorities for the landing of the Columbian exhibits and has returned to Naples, where the warship is lying, in order to superintend the debarkation of the relics. The Detroit's commander will accompany the returned exhibits to Rome, after which he will be received by the pope.

Hai Mo Cheng and Hai Cheng Taken.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The Japanese legation here has received a dispatch from Hiroshima, sent through its minister at St. Petersburg, detailing the movements of the Japanese troops in China. Following is the message: "The third division of the first army took Hai Mo Cheng Dec. 12 and occupied Hai Cheng Dec. 13. Both places are on the route to and near Nai Chang and Liao Yang."

Armenian Bishop Disappears.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The Anglo-Armenian association has a letter from a correspondent at Aleppo, Asiatic Turkey, which says the archbishop of Marasch, who was confined in the Aleppo jail, has disappeared, and the Armenians fear he has been hanged. The British consul Aleppo has made efforts to discover his whereabouts, but has been unsuccessful.

M. D. TAYLOR INVENTS AN OIL ENGINE

Very Pretty Piece of Mechanism the Result of His Skill.

M. D. Taylor, of the M. D. Taylor & Morris machine shop has invented and put in operation a gasoline engine, which for simplicity, power etc., is far ahead of anything of its kind. The engine just completed is a four-horse power, and, while it is the first one built from the patterns made from the original drawings, and being put up simply as a test machine, will, no doubt, rival all competition. Mr. Taylor has spent considerable time and money in perfecting this engine, and has now succeeded. While the engine is an upright, it is not wholly unlike an Otto gas engine, as it appears in operation. The feed-pipes, valves, governors, and exploding parts are wholly of Mr. Taylor's invention, and are very clever and neat pieces of mechanism. The firm are at work on another engine, which will be more elaborately finished, and when it is completed, Mr. Taylor will apply for patents, and place his engine on the market.

NO FIREWORKS AT INAUGURATION.

Ceremonies Will Be Quiet and No Display Will Be Made.

The inauguration of the newly elected state officials will take place on the 7th of January which falls on Monday, and on the Wednesday following the state legislature will convene. The citizens committee of which General Lucius Fairchild is chairman met in the governor's office Saturday afternoon and formulated a plan for the coming ceremonies. The committee believes in making the expense to the state as light as possible, and with this end in view it decided that there would be no military display except one company of militia which will act as guard of honor. The new state officials will be met at the depot by a reception committee and taken to the capitol building. They will be escorted by their predecessors in office to the assembly chamber where the oath of office will be administered by Chief Justice Orton of the supreme court. After an informal handshaking in the executive chamber the new officials will be conducted to their respective departments by the retiring officers. Governor Peck will turn over the executive mansion as well as the offices in the capitol to his successor and this will conclude the programme for the day. In the evening a public reception and ball will be given in the drill hall of the new armory, at which time all will be allowed the opportunity of meeting the new state officers and indulging in the dancing which will follow the hour or two devoted to the reception. The best of feeling prevails between Gov. Peck and his successor. Mrs. Peck gives a reception to Mrs. Upham next Thursday, and during the afternoon Gov.-elect Upham will in an informal way meet the citizens of Madison. In the evening a party will be given at the executive mansion for the daughter of Major and Mrs. Upham and Roy, the son of Gov. and Mrs. Peck.

HANDCUFFS AND GUN ARE LAID ASIDE

THE "WOMAN SHERIFF" DISCARDS HER JEWELRY.

Mrs. Ames of Belvidere, Who Once Tracked a Criminal to This City, No Longer Does Police Duty As Her Husband's Successor Has Been Elected.

Janesville people will remember Mrs. Sarah Ames of Belvidere, the famous "woman sheriff" who arrested Marshal James Teeter of Clinton at her home some days ago. She is also the woman who once chased a criminal to this city and caught him too. This fall's election threw Mrs. Ames out of office and after twelve years of active, hazardous and exciting life as chief deputy sheriff of Boone county. Ill., she has hung up her handcuffs, quit carrying a gun, and delivered the keys of the county jail into the hands of her successor.

While Mrs. Ames' official title has been "chief deputy sheriff," she has in fact been the high sheriff for the last two years on account of the ill health of her husband, Albert T. Ames, who held the certificate of election to the office his wife has filled. She discharged her duties in such a satisfactory manner that the republicans tried to prevail upon her to accept a nomination for sheriff last fall.

In her public career and private life Mrs. Ames has ever exhibited the unfailing sign of genius—modesty. She says that she has not done anything remarkable. However, here is what she has done during the time she occupied the sheriff's office with her husband:

The Work She Did.

Served papers in all forms of civic process.

Opened court each morning during the term.

Was in charge of the county jail and personally admitted and discharged all prisoners.

Made more arrests than any man connected with the sheriff's office.

Arrested several criminals at the point of a pistol.

Tracked fleeing criminals into other counties and states, and apprehended them.

Unraveled several mysteries of crime and brought the perpetrators to justice.

Personally conveyed all persons adjudged insane in her county to the insane asylum.

Made all arrangements for the execution of a condemned felon, and was the happiest woman in the state of Illinois when the governor commuted the sentence.

Organized a ladies cavalry club for political purposes and personally conducted her husband's last campaign.

Won a Riding Prize.

Contested in an equestrian tournament and received a diamond studed gold medal as the best horse woman.

Brought several carloads of cattle to the Chicago market and disposed of them at good profit.

In addition to the above, Mrs. Ames has conducted a millinery establishment in Belvidere, and has supplied the maids and matrons of the city and the surrounding country with the latest fashions in headgear.

Yet she says she has done nothing remarkable.

Everyone in town speaks in the highest terms of Mrs. Ames as a public official, a business woman and as a wife. Her home life is much the same as that of any other good woman's and every room in it gives evidence of the delicacy, refinement, and dainty femininity that characterizes her private life. As Sir Boyle Roach might put it, she is probably the best man in Belvidere.

BELOIT RAIDS CAUSE EXCITEMENT.

Gamblers Are Momentarily Expecting to Be Arrested Again.

Mayor Smith of Beloit has done nothing since his first raid on the gambling dens, but all are expecting some move to be made in the near future. It is rumored that several "freeze-out" joints will be given a call, when a big haul of lads is expected.

There are some who assert that the mayor's raid was not made in accordance with the law, and that, in spite of his published statements that he will burn the tables, etc., forcibly taken from the rooms, he will not destroy the property for fear of getting himself into trouble. It is evident from the appearance and actions of the sports that they think the matter has been dropped, and the games goes merrily on, though conducted in a more cautious manner. A game has been started by some of the "profesh" (none of whom were caught gambling as it was fondly hoped they would be) in a house over the line, where, it is thought, the tables can be run openly without fear of the Beloit officers.

Holiday Excursion Rates via the North-Western Line.

CLERKS FIGHT THE NEW RULE.

Janesville Mail Men Protest to Congressman H. A. Cooper.

Janesville is the home of four mail clerks—John Harlow, L. D. Prichard, C. D. Evans and Mark Collins. They in common with mail clerks all through the county are deeply concerned over the orders recently promulgated by Superintendent J. E. White, of the railway mail service regarding residences of employes is carried out. The superintendent's order is that all employes shall reside on the line upon which they are employed. The Wisconsin boys are putting pressure on their congressmen and Hon. H. A. Cooper has received a number of very strong letters from the clerks in the very first district. Complaints are coming from scores of mail clerks in all parts of the country, saying that the order will cause the loss of considerable to them on account of the forced sales of property in order to comply with the rule. An attempt is to be made in the house to attach an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill making the department rule apply only to clerks who enter the service in the future.

SEND YOUR PRESENTS EARLY.

There Is Always a Rush at Post and Express Offices the Last Day.

The time is at hand for the annual word of warning in regard to delaying the sending of Christmas presents. People conemplating sending presents to their friends in other parts will do well to remember that there is always a rush at the post and express offices on the last days. Those who attend to the sending of parcels in good time will suffer no inconvenience and will get waited on more to their satisfaction than during the rush. If you have anything to send, you will find it more profitable to go a day or two sooner than you think necessary. Then you will not be compelled to stand in the line before the express office desk and get the impression that to remember your friends on Christmas is a disagreeable duty. Besides your package is surer to reach its destination in good time and condition. Don't procrastinate if you would be comfortable.

BELOIT COLLEGE'S NEW CATALOGUE

Four Hundred Students Are Enrolled in the Various Departments.

The forty-eighth annual catalogue of Beloit college, just issued, differs from its predecessors in that the "junior class orations," (the occasion of the annual annihilation of the juniors by underclassmen) are dropped from the calendar and the Thanksgiving recess is inserted. Under the head of students are found two graduates, fifteen seniors, twenty-six juniors, tweny-four sophomores, forty-three freshmen and three specials, making a total of 113, against 101 last year. The total in the academy is 302, making the net total for college and academy 388. The net total of students, including art and music is 416. The alumni roll has again been added to the catalogue proper, and the book as a whole is an ideal as a compact, specific story of what the college is and what it can do.

News of Lima Center.

LIMA, Dec. 20—Miss Ella Barker spent part of last week in Whitewater with Mrs. Douglas. Mrs. Chapman visited her daughter in Janesville from Friday until Monday. Mr. Will Cowles ran the postoffice in her absence. Mrs. Mina McDowell and sister and father visited at his child the first of the week enroute to their new home in Minnesota. The entertainment last Thursday evening at the hall was well attended and a success financially to the aid circle. Last Monday evening being the fifteenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. George Osterbeldt, about forty of their friends met at their home for a surprise party, and presented them with a nice rocker as a token of respect and esteem. Refreshments were served and all enjoyed a nice time. Mrs. Glenn received a telegram this morning of the death of her father, who resided at Wyocena. They left on the 11 o'clock train to attend the funeral.

DRUGGISTS SUFFER BECAUSE OF GREED

E. B. HEIMSTREET TALKS OF A GENERAL EVIL.

Three Decades Ago the Promise of 50 Per Cent Profit Lured Pharmacists Into Pushing the Sale of Proprietary Medicines—Now They Are Sorry.

E. B. Heimstreet speaking for the druggist of the Wisconsin Pharmceutical association, is urging a movement to check the sale of patent medicines. He said to a Milwaukee Sentinel reporter yesterday that he was in favor of the imposition of a stamp tax on all proprietary medicines and the enactment of a law that all patent medicines containing poison must bear a label "poison" on each package. Speaking of the increase of the patent medicine traffic Mr. Heimstreet said:

"The pharmacist of the present time is paying the penalty of the sins of his predecessors. Under the stimulus of 33 and sometimes 50 per per cent. profit offered by the proprietors of patent medicines, the unskilled apothecary of several decades ago recommended patent medicines as the readiest means of supplying the demand for these remedies. In this way he helped the proprietor to introduce his remedies, and gradually educate a certain class of the American public to use this form of medication."

Mr. Heimstreet said that the imposition of the stamp tax in England had the effect last year of reducing the sale of patent medicines by 4,000,000 packages.

MR. AND MRS. FORD'S PLANS.

After Returning to Janesville, They Will Travel for Some Time.

A reporter for a Chicago paper interviewed Mrs. George O. Ford, last night, at the home of Mrs. Ford's mother, Mrs. T. H. Wickes, 3648 Grand boulevard.

"We leave to morrow for St. Louis, where where we will probably spend a couple of weeks, occupying the home of Mrs. Walker, my sister, who is now in Chicago. On our return we will stop again in Chicago for another visit with my mother and then go to Janesville, where Mr. Ford is engaged in the milling business in partnership with his father. We will remain for some time in Janesville and then go to New York, after which we will probably travel for a time."

NOVEL HOME MADE CHRISTMAS GIFTS

PRETTY PRESENTS TO SEND TO FRIENDS.

Home-Made Christmas Gifts Are in Proper Form—Directions Which Tell Any Bright Girl How to Make Them.

ARE YOU GOING to make your own Christmas presents? Of course you are! How silly to ever ask the question! All sensible girls naturally prefer making their own gifts to buying them.

No matter how small and trivial they are, they will possess greater value to those who love you than anything your slender pocketbooks could afford to buy.

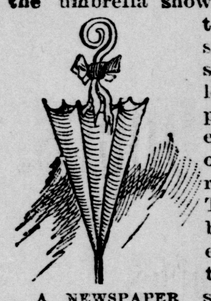
But what shall we make? you ask. There are lots of simple, pretty things that require little skill or expense, and which will be useful and ornamental at the same time.

PRETTY CUSHION FOR HAT PINS.

Have you ever thought of veil sachets? They are the handiest little things, and easily made. Take a piece of India silk—blue, pink, yellow, violet—any color you like, and cut it exactly square, the size of an ordinary lady's linen handkerchief. Cut out one large layer of thin cotton batting, a trifle smaller than the silk, and after putting the edges smoothly together, baste them to each other, turn over a little bit of the silk all round, to bring it even with the cotton, and tack it down to the latter. When this is done, spread out the square, cotton side toward you, and double over the sides, until they meet in the center, where they are joined together. This will conceal all the cotton. Now join the outer edges together, overcasting them neatly with sewing silk of the same color as the material, and you will have a long, narrow case, open at each end, through which folded veils can be drawn, a case covered inside and out with silk. The sides that have been sewn together, and the open ends, can be finished with a narrow ruffle of lace, headed by a silk or metal cord, a narrow gilt braid, quilting of ribbon, or a row of very fine flowers, like single forget-me-nots, violets or sprays of heather, neatly sewn on. If you like, the word "veils" may be embroidered on it, or the initials of a friend for whom the sachet is intended.

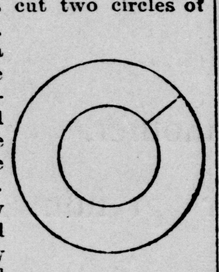
A pretty cushion for hat pins is crescent-shaped and can be covered in muslin in almost any shop where fancy goods are sold. Cover it neatly with satin or plush, or a piece of handsome brocade in different colors. Trim it with a ruffle of lace, and fasten ribbons to it, by which it can be hung on the wall, or the bureau.

For newspapers and odds and ends of any kind, nothing could be better than the umbrella shown in the illustration. Take a nice, smooth, round stick, about the length of a child's parasol, point one end and finish the other with a large rosette of ribbon. The stick itself can be either enameled, or gilded, or treated to a coat of silver or bronze paint. Now make a number of cornucopias of silk, satin or plush, stiffened with crinoline and lined with a fine silk of contrasting color, and sew them together, fitting them around the stick and fastening them to it about three inches above the pointed end with a very few small gimp tacks. These can be concealed by a small bunch of ribbons, set off, if you like, with a few flowers. The top of each of the cornucopias might be improved and made to look more like a real parasol by a ruffle of lace.



A NEWSPAPER HOLDER.

Something less elaborate, and which little girls who are not very expert with their needles, can make, is a hairpin ball. For this cut two circles of firm pasteboard, and then cut a round hole in the center of each, exactly alike, and cut through the two sides of the rings, so formed. Select some pretty colored worsted and wind it closely over the cardboard ring until the center hole is entirely filled up. When this is done take a pair of very sharp scissors and cut through the worsted the whole way round the edge of the ring. Insert a strong piece of twine between the cardboard rings and tie the wool with it just as tightly as you can. Slip out the cardboard rings by pulling them apart at the cut, and clip the ball evenly over. Make a crocheted cord of worsted, fasten it to the ball and finish it with a couple of worsted tassels, by which to hang the ball to the bureau. Without the cord and tassels, soft balls will make the nicest present you can make for baby brothers and sisters, who can throw them about with perfect impunity, and they make an excellent showing on Christmas trees.



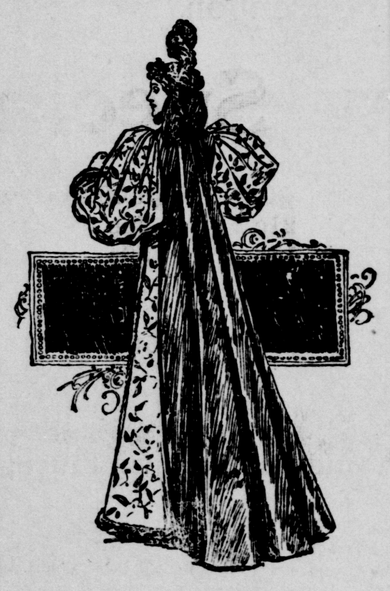
A HAIRPIN BALL.

A three-eyed girl of rare beauty is said to be a coming sensation in Europe.

FASHIONABLE EVENING EFFECTS.

Gay Waists and Gorgeous Wraps—Jeweled Buckles, Spangles and Chiffon.

The bodice differing in material from the skirt continues fashionable and is made in both simple and elaborate styles for day and evening wear. Silk is the material usually employed for those intended for general wear, but plaid velvet in bright colors is newer and is said to be serviceable, besides being undoubtedly warmer. A bodice of this latter goods is very effective worn with a black skirt. For dinners and other dress occasions charming corsages are shown made of gathered chiffon over a silk lining of contrasting color—green over pink or blue over yellow. The sleeves are of elbow length and elaborately draped, and the neck is finished with a high draped collar much decorated. These furbelowed collars are also worn with low cut evening gowns by women who like novelty, although the unadorned neck is more beautiful. Jewelers are bringing out a line of exquisite neck buckles, enameled, jeweled and engraved, the workmanship being of the finest description. The most costly ones come in a set of three—one large for the front and two smaller ones for the sides. Spangles are no less fashionable now than they were last winter. They are woven on a foundation to form galloons of various width and of as many tints as the scales of an iridescent dragon. They are sprinkled over gauze for evening gowns and are worked into embroidery patterns on velvet. They shimmer on hats, bonnets, wraps and gowns. They form the decoration of some extremely pretty new fans of black gauze intended for evening use, upon which the little steel or gold disks produce a most brilliant effect.



EVENING WRAP.

There are also gauze fans quieter in appearance, but more costly, adorned with small painted medallions framed in lace. These are more appropriate for the use of middle aged women, to whom rich rather than gay effects are suitable.

A sketch is given of a velvet and damask evening wrap. The straight front and the sides are of white damask, with pink roses and their foliage. The back is of emerald velvet, forming an immense watteau plait fastened to the high flaring collar by a velvet bow. A yoke of green velvet adorns the front. The bishop sleeves are of damask, and the collar, wrists of the sleeves and the damask body of the garment are bordered with sable.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

HATS AND COIFFURES.

Timely Hints to Amateur Milliners—Study In Hairdressing.

As there are a great number of amateur milliners in the world who find it necessary to make some sort of presentable headgear with little material and less skill, a bit of advice respecting the trimming of hats may not come amiss. Always try effects first by pinning. If they are good, go to work with needle and cotton, but do not remove one pin until the sewing is done. A little shifting in the position of any one thing will spoil the whole, so see that the pins are firmly stuck in. The French milliners do this and try numbers of different positions before they are satisfied, and this is one reason why their work is so light and artistic. Long slender pins keep in place better than short ones; also it is much easier to sew trimming in place if milliners' needles are used. These are no more expensive than the ordinary kind and may be obtained at any dry goods shop. One paper of medium size needles will last the amateur milliner for years.

COIFFURE.

Folds, bows and rosettes of piece goods must be made on the bias. Handle the materials as little as possible, as its freshness is its chief merit. Make the center of all bows where they are gathered together very tight, as this gives the loops more smartness. Wire all standing trimming and fasten the ends of thread securely.

Max O'Rell, speaking of the typical Frenchwoman, remarks: "Notice that she often changes the style of her hair. That is because she knows that love lives on trifles, and that the best dishes become insipid if they are always served with the same sauce." Those women who agree with M. O'Rell's Frenchwoman will therefore be eagerly on the lookout for new coiffures, while many who doubt that authority will be interested in following fashionable changes because to dress the hair in one way always is said to be injurious to it.

The coiffure in the sketch is intended for rather short locks. The hair is waved all over the head, drawn back, slightly rolled and pinned, the curling ends being allowed to escape and conceal the twist.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Unalterably Opposed.

"I'm against it, sah," said Col. Cyahter, of Virginia. "I'm against this idea of women's voting."

"What's the objection?"

"If they vote, it's only logical to expect 'em to run foh office, sah."

"Well?"

"An' the woman that's the most attractive is going to get the most votes in my district every time. The idea, sah, of getting up in public, sah, and expressing the opinion that any one woman is mo' attractive than other women who have been mentioned by name, would be a breach of gallantry, sah, unworthy of any but the most barbaric circles of society, sah."—Truth.

Her Cruelty.

"I little thought," sighed Mr. Lease, as he wrung out the dishcloth and hung it on the nail over the sink; "I little thought, when you called me your clinging ivy and promised to be my sturdy oak, that the time would ever come when you would treat me as cruelly as you did yesterday."

"Well, what did I do?" growled Mrs. Lease.

"You know very well," sobbed the injured husband. "You deliberately let me start out shopping without telling me that my hat was not on straight."—Life.

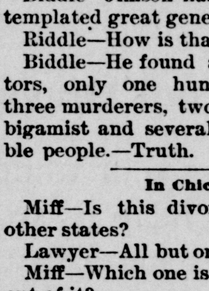
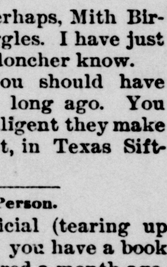
THE SCHOOL BOY



—is often a sufferer from headache. The seat of sick headache is not in the brain, for if you regulate the stomach and bowels you'll cure it. Too much brain-work and brain-tire brings on a rush of blood to the head with headache, dizziness or "nose bleed."

Miss BERTHA WOLFE, of Dayton, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., writes: "I suffered from loss of appetite, constipation, neuralgia, and great weakness, and had terrible attacks of sick headache very frequently; also nose bleed. My health was so poor that I was not able to go to school for two years. I took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and in a short time I was strong and well. Many friends are taking your medicines, seeing what they have done for me."



MISS WOLFE.

THE FIRST THING IN THE MORNING

take a little Carlsbad Sprudel Salt in a glass full of water. That will set you right and keep you right, if you're inclined to be bilious or dyspeptic or constipated.

People wonder, sometimes, why it is that the Carlsbad treatment, the world's remedy for habitual constipation, should be recommended for diarrhœa and such disorders, too. Simply, because it leads the stomach and bowels naturally into a healthy condition, whatever their derangements—it doesn't accomplish its results by harmful irritation, as most pills and purgatives do.

Beware of imitations sold as "improved" or "artificial" Carlsbad Salt.

The only genuine Carlsbad Salt, with all the properties of the Sprudel Spring solidified, has the seal of the city of Carlsbad and the signature of "EISNER & MENDELSON Co., Agents, New York," on every bottle. All others are worthless imitations.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

107—St. Ignatius martyred at Rome; Ignatius was a disciple of St. John and ordained by the apostles; he was put to death by Trajan.

1577—Fire at Venice destroyed many of Titian's finest paintings.

1780—John Wilson Croker, author and statesman, born in Galway, Ireland; died 1857.

1813—Samuel Jordan Kirkwood, statesman, born in Hartford county, Md.; famous war governor of Iowa; died Sept. 1, 1894.

1822—Dion Boucicault, popular actor and playwright, born in Dublin; died 1891.

1848—Louis Napoleon Bonaparte proclaimed president of the French republic.

1858—Final suppression of the Indian mutiny.

1873—George Peabody Putnam, founder of the American publishing house, died; born 1813.

1893—Severe storm on the southeast coast of Great Britain; many maritime disasters.

Democrats seldom profit by experience. The disasters which followed the driving of the Wilson tariff bill through the house under whip and spur have not prevented the application of the same tactics to the currency bill.

Ex-Congressman Perry Belmont, having made a fizzle of politics, will try a "go" at New York society this winter. He has the principal requisite for social success—money.

The Alabama negroes have got an erroneous idea. There is no need of a new law to prevent lynching. What is needed are good officials with nerve enough to enforce existing laws.

Secretary Hoke Smith has a red card, reading "Scarlet fever within," nailed to the front of his Washington residence to keep away democratic congressmen and office-seekers.

The Atchison Globe says: "Discount your expectations at least 80 per cent." It is better, however, to have no expectations.

Why Mr. Cleveland should have gone south to hunt when there is so much game in Washington is a Christmas puzzle.

It will be some time before the price for a New York police captaincy reaches $15,000 again.

The decision of Judge Woods is almost as long as the sentence he imposed on Debs.

Use It In Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the general enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucous, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

Why the Shakers Are Declining.

The one thing most of all which strikes the visitor is the unnatural relation in which the men and women live, the violation of the natural order which has been the cause of the death of other sects and will end this. While the men and women live celibate lives, and while the founders sought to preserve the benefit of the association of men and women by having "brothers and sisters" in one institution, yet the destruction of family life and the smothering of the finest affections of nature can but have the inevitable result which is now being faced by this declining sect. They can not find children enough to adopt who will stay with them when they are grown up, to fill the places of those who are passing away. They live a life which must be largely barren and unnatural. Their principles do not convert many. They are not a quickening power, save as they are illustrations of the returns of patient toil, of ingenious invention and of painstaking thrift.

Death of Sallie Mercer.

All who ever knew Charlotte Cushman will join in regret at the recent death of her old attendant and friend, Sallie Mercer. The actress's biography reveals in what estimation she held this faithful mulatto woman, who entered her service at the age of 15, and who was her right hand and trusted friend till her death. She remained in the family of her late mistress' nephew, W. E. Cushman, more as a friend and guardian than as a servant. Sallie Mercer was 66 years old and had been with the Cushman family more than fifty years. Her death took place recently at Onteora, N. Y., where she was spending the summer with Mrs. Cushman.

SALLIE MERCER.

Training Women Gardeners.

An English peeress, Lady Carlisle, is training an entire staff of women to take charge of the fine grounds of her extensive estate in York. Woman gardeners and woman florists seem to be women in the right places, yet these occupations are only occasionally sought by women. It is interesting to observe that Miss Wilkinson, an Englishwoman, and one of the most successful women in the profession, should have recently received fresh and august testimony to her skill. Vauxhall Park, her work, recently opened by the Prince of Wales, has been pronounced by that accredited excellent judge to be one of the best pieces of landscape gardening he has ever seen.

LADY CARLISLE.

Walnut Wood.

American walnut is a high priced wood, partly, perhaps, because of its scarcity, but the Italian walnut and not the American is used in the finest carved furniture. The Italian is of much finer texture than the American and is peculiarly rich and beautiful for massive pieces of carved work.

No Hope for the Poles' Property.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 20.—A Polish resident of Minneapolis and one of the refugees of the revolt of 1863 received a telegram in cipher yesterday regarding the czar's proclamation of amnesty. Translated it reads: "Amnesty will not help to get any property or money in banks confiscated at that time by the government. Does not extend to those who escaped from prison, Siberia, or military escort."

FINGERS AND HEADS A LITTLE TO LIGHT

MUNICIPAL COURT DID A FAIR BUSINESS TODAY.

James Mullen Sentenced For Stealing a Boat, John P. Powers, the Famous Aftonite Sent Down For Drunkenness While Charles Stark Took Wood.

JOHN MULLEN willl serve sixty days in the county jail for stealing a row boat from James Cassiday, he pleading guilty this afternoon in the municipal court. John W. Powers, who is commonly known as the "lord high executioner of Afton," was sent to the county bastile, this afternoon to serve for three days, he being adjudged guilty of disrderly conduct and drunkenness. Rather than pay $8.25 into the coffers of the municipal court Charles Stark, 215 North River Street, will remain a guest of Sheriff Bear until after breakfast on Saturday morning. Stark was arrested on charge of stealing wood from Edward Inman, but when arraigned this morning pleaded not guilty and stood trial. The testimony was strong enough to convict, and the judge sentenced him to pay a fine of $1 and costs, the costs amounting to $7,25 or $8.25, and in default of payment he stands committed for two days.

WE received this morning the entire sample line of umbrellas made by the Detroit Umbrella Co. of Detroit, Mich., which embraces upwards of four hundred styles. In the trade this company is known as the makers of the nobbiest umbrellas in the market, and the securing of such a line at a liberal discount is a snap. For ladies or gentlemen we can show you everything that's new and at a low price. What would be a better or a nicer gift? Think it over and drop in. Archie Reid & Co.

CAPT. HARRY DOUGLAS KING, of No. 122 Fifth street northeast, private secretary to Hon. Henry A. Cooper of Wisconsin, has just returned to Washington. He has been on a two months' trip to his old home in Janesville, Wis., and has also visited Chicago, Kansas City, Denver, Ogden, Utah and Helena, Mont—Washington Times.

WE back up every statement we make with the goods themselves. If thay are not satisfactory, return them. We want to do more than make one sale—we want to make you our customers for all time to come. Therefore the fairest kind of fair treatment in every transaction. Prentice & Evenson.

WE are offering some special bargains in the following line of housekeeping goods for the holidays: Bed spreads, bed comfortables, blankets, table linen, napkins, stamped linens, table scarfs, chenille table covers, chenille curtains, lace curtains, rugs. T. P. Burns.

DIAMONDS are bought by so many as an investment. At the price asked for them by A. F. Hall & Co., "the reliable jewelers," they seem about as safe as anything you can put your money into. How can you get more pleasure than by giving a diamond at Christmas. Try it?

IT is simply an indicator, the Milwaukee street show window of A. F. Hall & Co., "the reliable jewelers." It indicates the variety of extent and style of their stock, but to realize fully the low prices at which all things can be procured, you must step inside.

IF all the watch chains that "the reliable jewelers" have were put end to end they would reach all over town. Hall & Co.'s low prices are being talked of all over town. Do not buy till you have been their if you have any regard for saving money.

BASKET selling has been lively since the line was opened and you can find baskets of every shape, style and kind ranging from the little ones, at 3 cents to the big ones at $5. They are samples and are sold at sample prices. Archie Reid & Co.

YES, I have looked the city over and come to the conclusion that the most useful and best thing I can buy my wife for a Christmas present is one of those beautiful Domestic sewing machines at No. 115 West Milwaukee street.

WE keep the largest assortment of pocket books, card cases and purses in Janesville. We have pocket books and card cases combined in real seal, lizard and alligator with sterling silver corners. Prices cheap at King & Skelly's book store.

WOMEN can't vote, can't sit on juries, can't put down riots, but they can and do purchase over 90 per cent. of the perfume that is sold, and you will see them all going into Prentice & Evenson's for Hudnut's.

A COLLAR button that stays buttoned and holds your tie in place achieves something. A. F. Hall & Co. "the reliable jewelers," will tell you all about it, and you can explain it to him Christmas morning.

WE are closing out our entire stock of winter clothing at less than cost to manufacture, from $5 to $10 buys the dnest all wool suit overcoats and ulsters that formerly sold from $10 to $20. S. D. Grubb.

PRESIDENT T. W. GOLDIN of the school board visited the high school this morning and presented the school with a large amount of well preserved confederate money to be put in the museum. Mr. Goldin expressed himself as well pleased with the school and the work, but said he thought Janesville people ought to take a little more interest in the school and make frequent visits.

MRS. M. O'BRIEN, of Darien, was bitten by a vicious dog. The dog lay in the doorway, and when Mrs. O'Brien bade him get up he at once flew at her face, but she being near the pantry door, backed in and closed it until the dog went away. Her husband killed the canine.

DEATH IN THE RIVER WAS MRS. FORD'S LOT

BODY FOUND ON THE DAM AT MONTEREY.

While Throwing a Pail of Slops In the Stream Back of Her South River Street Home Last Night It Is Supposed She Was Stricken With a Fit and Fell In.

Cold in death Mrs. Patrick C. Ford, wife of the cooper who resides at 209 South River street, was pulled from the river at Monterey this morning.

Early risers saw her features turned up to the sun and notified Chief Acheson.

The body had caught on the dam, and the pressure of the water had turned her face to the sky.

No one, at that time knew who she was. Chief Acheson had Fred O'Donnell go out and get the body which was taken to Nelson Bros. and put upon a stretcher. Many people called to look at it to see if they could identify the dead woman. The body was that of a thick set woman beyond the middle age dressed in a calico dress open at the throat. Both arms, in the rigidity of death, were bent at the elbow and extended upwards with hands tightly clenched. The face was peaceful and but little discolored. Drops of water dripped from her clothing and formed tiny pools on the floor. About the body a cluster of men gathered but but none recognized it.

"I do not know her" was the remark that each made after lifting the cloth from her face. The last one to look was James Kemmett.

"I know her," he remarked. "It is Mrs. Patrick Ford. She has been missing since last night." He at once left to notify the husband, and it was not many minutes after that Patrick Ford, with John Lawler, a brother of the dead woman, together with Mrs. Lawler, appeared by the side of the bier. Slowly Undertaker Nelson raised the pall, that the three might look at the corpse.

Recognized His Wife.

"My God, that is my wife!" cried Mr. Ford, and then he staggered back to a chair, and sitting down he cried like a child. Mr. Lawler and wife also identified the body at first sight.

"I went home about dark last night," said Mr. Ford to a Gazette reporter, "when I went in I threw myself on the bed with my clothes all on. Kate took a pail and went out. I supposed she was going down to the river after water. I fell asleep and did not wake up until 3 o'clock this morning. I missed my wife, but thought she had gone over to Mr. Terrell's, where she frequently visits. I left home this morning, but did not mistrust that anything like this had occurred."

"Oh, Pat," exclaimed Mrs. Lawler, "why didn't you give the alarm when you missed Kate. See how cold and wet she is," and then the heart-broken woman hid her face in her hands and wept.

It is supposed that Mrs. Ford accidentally fell into the water, head first and face down, and that the body floated down to the Monterey dam during the night.

"Kate frequently has fits," said Mrs. Lawler, "and I think she must have had a fit when she fell in"

Mrs. Ford was fifty-six years old last October. She has no children.

Coroner's Jury Called.

Justice M. S. Prichard, acting as coroner, issued a summons to Chief Acheson for a jury as follows: A. S. Lee, W. H. Pierce, E. W. Vanderlyn, C. S. Crow, Thomas Baker and H. C. Proctor. They viewed the remains and then adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon and the remains were taken to the home on South River street.

Charles Albright testified before the enquest saw the body floating in the river when he was going to his work. He was near the culvert on Eastern avenue, at the foot of the Monterey hill. The body was then near the iron bridge on the north shore. And by the time he arrived at that part of the bridge the body had lodged on the crest of the dam, face upwards. He notified some men, who telephoned the officers. The jury returned a verdict of death by accidental drowning.

The remains will be buried tomorrow afternoon, brief services being held at the home on South River street at 2;30 o'clock.

WANTED A MINISTER TO TIE A KNOT

Couple In Search of a Preacher Put On the Right Track.

"I am a stranger in the city," said a young man this morning addressing Charles Tarrant, at the grocery store of Tarrant & Osgood on West Milwaukee street, "and I want to find a minister."

"Want to get married I suppose?" querried the good natured groceryman.

"Yes, sir," answered the young man with a bashful blush.

"What minister do you want? Dr. Halsey resides here now. Besides we have a number of other ministers here who no doubt can marry you all right."

"I prefer a Universalist," he said.

"We have no Universalist here at present," Mr. Tarrant explained, but on looking up he noticed Rev. S. P. Wilder passing on his wheel.

"There goes Rev. Mr. Wilder of the Congregational church. I will hail him if you desire."

"Yes, call him."

Mr. Wilder was brought to a halt and Mr. Tarrant explained the situation. Mr. Wilder held a brief consultation with the young man, and then waited at the grocery store for the young man to step down the street for his bride elect. A minute after, the couple with the minister were on their way to the parsonage and the rest is briefly told:

"Married—By Rev. S. P. Wilder of the Congregational church, Thursday December 20, 10 a. m. at the parsonage, William Evans of Spring Grove, and Miss Eliza C. Chamberlin of Avon."

Congratulations are in order.

PROF. GETTLE GETS AN OFFICE.

Superintendent of Evansville Schools to Be Library Clerk in Madison.

Professor L. E. Gettle of this county has been given the position of library clerk in the state superintendent's office under the new administration. An effort was made to retain the old clerk on the ground of his familiarity with the work, but it was developed that Professor Gettle had devoted much time to school literature and was highly qualified. He is now superintendent of schools in Evansville.

POULTRY SHIPPED BY THE TON

Nine Thousand Pounds Sent From Janesville Last Night By Express.

Four and a half tons of dressed poultry, mostly turkeys, was shipped from Janesville by American Express, last night, the lot being consigned to Boston. It is claimed that this is the largest single shipment of poultry ever made from this city.

WEDDINGS SET FOR TONIGHT.

McGrew—Buob.

Miss Anna M. Buob and J. F. McGrew will be married tonight at the bride's home. The bride-to-be is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Buob of South Main street, and the groom is a mail carrier in Chicago. Rev. W. F. Brown of Beloit, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, will perform the ceremony, and they will make their home in Chicago.

Sweet—Christman.

Mrs. Amos Crall and daughter Vinnie left this afternoon for Shopiere to attend the wedding of Miss Alta Christman and Henry D. Sweet, which takes place this evening.

Looks Like Chicago.

This is the remark you will hear, we might say, hundreds of times a day from the ladies who come into our store. They all like to trade here because it is so light, they don't have to take a piece of goods to the door to see what it is. We did intend to erect a fine Christmas window, but we had no time; we also intended to write a large Christmas ad., but time again would not permit. All we can do is to wait on customers. We will let both the advertising writing and window go at present and continue to sell you anything we have at exact cost.

POSITION OF THE JANESVILLE MAN NOT QUITE SECURE

He Has Been Eminently Successful In the Gentle Art of Making Enemies—Secretary Lamont's Work Increased By His Appointment Instead of Being Lessened.

Assistant Secretary of War J. B. Doe is in danger of losing is head if reports from Washington be true. A Washington dispatch to the Chicago Tribune today says: "Secretary Doe whose military record is embraced in the statement that he was at one time adjutant of the militia of Wisconsin, has not proved a howling success since he was called to Washington. It is understood that Secretary Lamont is seriously considering the question of a successor to the representative of the Badger State in the war department in consequent of the entanglements he has mnde in the famous red tape establishment, which is only paralleled by the circumlocution office of which the great Dickens wrote. Nearly every head of an important bureau in the war department is at daggers' points with the assistant secretary, who has proved himself an obstacle rather than a help to Secretary Lamont. When Mr. Doe was brought to Washington it was with the distinct understanding that he was to relieve the secretary of war of all routine business, but instead of so doing he has only multiplied work for the secretary and the latter is tiring very percepitably of the subordinate. In fact it is asserted that possibly after the holidays there will be a change in the war department, but at any rate Assistant Secretray Doe may not remain throughout this administration.

SPECIAL ELECTION SETTLED BY WOMEN

IOWA DAMES CAST THEIR FIRST VOTES.

One was Born in England but was Permitted to Vote the Same as the Others—The Sensation of the Day at the Polls.

THE SPECIAL election to determine whether the town of Sigourney, Iowa, should establish a water system to cost $20,000 gave the women an opportunity to exercise the right of suffrage granted by the last Iowa legislature under that provision of the law which permits them to vote when an increase of the tax levy is involved.

The Australian ballot was used. The polls opened at 9 o'clock sharp. Men who were in favor of the proposition were lukewarm, but the "antis" were waiting for the polls to open. Whether women could vote was not fully decided, but the question did not remain long in doubt. Miss Ida Robison, Mrs. W. R. Hollingsworth and Mrs. W. H. Cobrs came up before the judges of election followed by several curious men, passed in and received their ballots. Then they looked at each other dubiously until some one told them to go into a booth to mark their tickets.

Miss Ida Robison presented her ballot first and went on record as the first woman to vote. She is a compositor on the Review, and she and her mother live together, the remainder of the family being dead. She is tall, dark, and is soprano for the Presbyterian church choir also taking an active part in the Sunday school. Her vote was cast as the result of a religious conviction that as there were no men to represent her home she ought to vote. She thought if she failed to vote on a proposition which she was in favor of she would not be doing right in the light of the Bible.

Mrs. W. R. Hollingsworth, who cast the second ballot, is the wife of the editor of the Review, is a leading singer of the town, and a society woman. It was she who influenced the other women to vote. Although she was born in England and no naturalization papers were ever taken out she was allowed to vote, nobody objecting.

Mrs. S. W. Brunt was the fourth woman to vote and the first to come with her husband, who is cashier of one of the banks. Mrs. Brunt was one of the most enthusiastic voters that the judges saw all day. She took her ticket, passed to a booth, and back to the judges as quickly and with as much self-assurance as if she had been voting at every election. She was the first mother to vote.

Not many more votes were cast until after dinner, when Mrs. Hollingsworth ordered out the family carriage and began earnest work at the polls, hauling in the women who were favorable to the proposition. Then the women began to vote fast, and when the polls closed at night seventy-two had cast ballots. The result was 377 for and 58 against the water system. Twenty-six tickets were not counted because they were not marked properly.

There were many women who would not vote because they did not think it was right. Some who were formerly the most enthusiastic woman suffragists "backed down" when the day came. They were afraid of seeming awkward in spite of the fact that an important question was at stake. One woman would not go to the polls because her new dress had not arrived from the dressmaker's. A man who lives in the north part of town and has considerable property brought his wife, who is very feeble, to the polls to vote against the system. In that way he hoped to save the tax.

Took a Rest.

A SONG OF SUMMER TIME.

Oh, the swaying of the branches and the flitting through the trees,
And the music of the voices that come upon the breeze!
Oh, the singing and the winging of the birds that come and go,
And the frisking of the squirrels as they scamper to and fro!
Oh, the ferns and mossy carpets, and the waters dark and cool
That go stealing through the shadows from some clear, unsullied pool!
Oh, the trilling of the songsters
From the branches and the grass,
And the glancing of the sunlight
On the waters as we pass!

Oh, the glancing of the sunlight as it strikes the waters clear,
And the singing of the thrushes, and the other songs we hear!
Oh, the boating and the floating on the waters of the lake,
And the ripples and the shadows that go dancing from our wake!
Oh, the breezy days of pleasure, and the pleasant nights to dream,
When the stars look down and twinkle, and the winged lanterns gleam!
Oh, the summers in the country,
Where the songsters nest and sing,
And the pleasure without measure
That the woods and waters bring!

—Frank H. Sweet in Donahoe's Magazine.

MARIE.

During the "reign of terror" in France there were many deeds of daring performed, even by women, and many noble examples of affection exhibited.

The very streets of Paris were deluged with human blood, but near the guillotine it ran in gushing torrents.

One dark morning an unusual number of the aristocracy had been marched forth, and countless heads rolled from the block.

A gaping multitude stood by, and with shouts rent the air as the aristocracy were thus butchered.

Among the assembled multitude that dreary morning were two women. One of them was plainly clad, while a cloak was thrown around her, with which she kept her features nearly concealed.

But a close observation would betray the fact that the woman had been weeping.

Her eyes were inflamed and red, and she gazed eagerly upon the platform, while a shudder passed over her frame as each shock of the glittering knife severed the head from the body of some one who had been unfortunate enough to fall under the ban of the leaders.

The face of the woman was very beautiful, and she was young, certainly not more than 16 or 18 years of age.

The other woman was quite different in character. Her face was fair, but there was a brazen expression about it. She was clad in rags, and as each head fell she would dance, and in various ways express her delight, and then exclaim:

"There falls another aristocrat who refused me charity when I humbly sued to him!"

Each expression of the kind would create a laugh from those who heard her, but any thoughtful person must wonder how one so young could have become so depraved.

The first woman watched this creature for a few moments, and then pressing her way to her side she laid her hand upon the shoulder of the wretch and whispered:

"Would you like to become rich at once?"

The woman in rags turned about with a look of surprise, burst into a loud laugh and then replied:

"Of course I would."

"Follow me, and you shall be."

"Enough. Lead on."

It was with considerable difficulty that the females extricated themselves from the crowd, but they did so at length, and then the first woman asked of the other:

"What shall I call you?"

"Oh, I'm called the beggar girl Marie!"

"You live by begging?"

"Yes; but what's your name, and what do you want?"

"My name is Marie, the same as your own."

"Are you an aristocrat?"

"It does not matter. If you know where we can find a room, lead me to it, and you shall have gold."

The pauper led the way into a narrow and filthy street and then down into a cellar and into a dark and filthy room.

The other woman could not but feel a sickening sensation creep over her, but she recovered herself. After contemplating for a time the apartment and what it contained she asked:

"Are you well known in Paris?"

"Yes, everybody knows Marie, the beggar girl."

"Are you known to Robespierre? If so, I want to make a bargain with you.

"I am. What do you wish?"

"You see my clothing is better than your own, and I wish to exchange with you. I want you to consent to remain here, and not to show yourself at all for a short time, or until I come to you again. As recompense for aiding me I will give you 1,000 francs, and when I come back I will give you 1,000 more. As security for my return, take this ring."

The lady drew a diamond ring from her finger and gave it to the beggar girl. Then she handed her a purse containing gold.

The girl appeared a little puzzled and asked:

"Well, what are you going to do with my dress?"

"I want to put it on and go where I first met you."

"Oh, I understand now. You want to see the chopping go on, and you are afraid you will be taken for an aristocrat if you wear that dress. You want to represent me?"

"Yes. I want to look as near like you as possible."

"Well, that won't be very difficult. Your hair and eyes and even your mouth are like mine. Your face is too white, though. But you can alter that with a little dirt."

They exchanged dresses, and soon the young, rich and noble Marie de Nantes was clad in the rags of Marie, the beggar girl of Paris.

The history of Marie de Nantes was a sad one. Her father and two brothers had fallen victims to the remorseless fiends of the revolution, and a third and last brother had been seized. But of his fate she was ignorant, although she expected that it would be similar to that of her other relatives. He had been torn from her side but a few hours before.

After the exchange had been made the pauper looked on the stockingless and shoeless feet and ankles of the lady and said:

"That will never do. Your feet are too white and delicate. Let me arrange matters."

In a few moments Marie was prepared, and in the filth and rags she emerged into the street.

She now took her course back toward the guillotine, and at length reached the square where the bloody work was still going on.

Gradually she forced her way through the crowd, and nearer and nearer she came to the scaffold.

She even forced a laugh at several remarks she heard around her, but these laughs sounded strangely.

She now stood within a few feet of the platform and swept it with her eyes, but her brother was not there.

The cry was now raised:

"Here comes another batch!"

Her heart fluttered violently, and she felt a faintness come over her as she heard the tramp of the doomed men approaching.

Her brother walked proudly and fearlessly forward and ascended the very steps which led to the block.

Up to this moment the strength of poor Marie had failed her, and she was unable to put her resolve into execution.

But now a sister's love swelled up in her breast, and she recovered her strength.

She sprang forward, bursting through the line of guards, and ran up the steps.

Grasping her brother by the hand, she cried:

"What does this mean? It is only the aristocrats that are to die!"

"Away, woman!" exclaimed one of the executioners.

"No; I will not away until you tell me why my brother is here and thus bound."

"Your brother?" was the echo.

"Yes, this is my brother."

"Well, who are you?"

"I am Marie; don't you know me?"

"The beggar girl?"

"Aye."

"But this is not your brother?"

"It is. Ask him—ask him."

Young Antonio de Nantes had turned a scornful gaze upon the maiden, but a light passed across his face, and he murmured:

"Oh, my sister!"

"Is this your brother?" asked Robespierre of the supposed beggar, advancing near her.

"It is."

"But his name is down differently."

"Then you are mistaken. He is my brother. Ask him."

"Does Marie speak the truth?" asked Robespierre.

"She does," was the brother's reply.

"And you are not De Nantes?"

"I tell you I am her brother."

"Why did you not tell us this before?"

"I attempted to speak, but was silenced."

"But you might have declared yourself."

"You would not have believed me."

"But your dress?"

"It belonged to an aristocrat, perhaps to him for whom I was taken."

Robespierre advanced close to young Nantes and gazed earnestly into his face. Then he approached Marie and looked steadily in her eyes for a short time.

It was a moment of trial for the poor girl. She trembled in spite of all her efforts to be calm. She almost felt that she was lost, when the human fiend, whose word was law, turned and said:

"Release the man."

The chains were instantly removed, and Antonio de Nantes walked down from the scaffold, followed by his sister, while the shouts of those around rent the air, for they supposed it was a commoner who had thus been saved.

The young man worked his way through the crowd as rapidly as possible, leading Marie.

They had scarcely escaped it before the poor girl fainted from the intensity of her feelings.

The brother scarcely knew what to do, but a hand was laid upon his arm, and a voice said:

"Bring her to my room again. She will be safe there."

The brother conveyed her to the apartment of the pauper and asked of her:

"Have you seen the woman before?"

"Yes, I know all about it," returned the pauper. "She borrowed my clothes to save her lover. She has done it, and I am glad."

Before the noble sister returned to consciousness the brother had learned all.

When she did so, they both sought secure quarters after rewarding the beggar girl, as had been promised.

"Do you think Robespierre was really deceived?" asked Marie de Nantes.

"I think not," returned the brother.

"Then why did he order your release?"

"He saw your plan; he admired your courage. Could a fiend have done less?"

"Perhaps this was the case. But if so it was a deed of mercy and the only one that man ever did."

Antonio de Nantes was not again arrested and lived happily with that sister who had so nobly imperiled her own life to save him by representing the beggar girl of Paris.—Pleasant Hours.

Didn't Believe It.

He—De Freshe is laid up with nervous prostration.

She—It must be something else. Nothing on earth could prostrate that fellow's nerve.—Detroit Free Press.

Making the World Homelike.

In her address before the Woman's Christian Temperance union convention at Cleveland Miss Frances E. Willard said: "I remember that no one subject puzzled or vexed me more in my youthful days than why it was that men could arrange the whole world at their will and then have the home besides, while women did not have the world but the home only. I did not think this fair, and I resolved to build in my life to help to make the world so homelike that women could freely go out into it everywhere, side by side with men, and also to help bring it about that men should share in larger measures than they have ever yet done in the hallowed ministrations of the fireside and the cradleside, through which, as I believe, they are to reach their highest and holiest development."

A Large Fortune Quickly Lost.

Among reverses of fortune perhaps the strangest is that of the Duchess Santonna, who has just died in Madrid in the greatest poverty. Eight years ago she possessed a fortune of $4,000,000. A number of lawsuits were commenced against her by her relatives, absorbing a large part of this. Another large amount went in charity, and the remainder went trying to place the Bourborn family on the throne. A story is told of the duchess which illustrates her kindness of heart. Hearing that a lady, a member of a very old Spanish family, was in great need, and wished to sell jewelry to the amount of $200,000, the Duchess de Santonna sent her check for that amount. When the jewelry reached her she returned it, saying she did not want it, and was glad to have been of som service.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

academy in 1882. He was honorably discharged because there was no vacancy in the service for him, went to China and did such good work in reorganizing the navy that he was given high command, and at the beginning of the Japanese war was put in command of China's most powerful warship, the Chin-Yuen.

A New Protestant Brotherhood.

Brother Hugh is the religious name and address of the gentleman who aims to found an order in the Protestant Episcopal church designed for work among the children of the poor like the orders so long established in the Catholic church. Russell Whitcomb is his name, and he is of a wealthy Boston family. He studied law and gave it up to study for the ministry, but was stopped by ill health. He has taken vows of poverty, chastity and obedience for five years and is training several young men for a similar course. Their headquarters are in New York city.

BROTHER HUGH IN STREET DRESS.

A New Rear Admiral.

Rear Admiral Richard Warsaw Meade, recently promoted from commodore, is a cousin of the late General George B. Meade, was born in New York city Oct. 9, 1837, and won every step of his promotions by gallant and most effective service. He won high honors during the war and commanded the ironclad Louisville of the western flotilla. He was naval commissioner to the Chicago exposition and had charge of the imitation battleship Illinois on the lake front.

ADMIRAL MEADE.

NOTABLE DANCES.

The polska is a Swedish dance, somewhat resembling a Scotch reel.

The gigue is an Italian dance, and took its name from Giga, the Italian name for a fiddle.

The gavotte was a French dance of slow motion, so called from the Gavots; the dancers barely lifting their feet from the ground.

A hundred years ago the minuet was a favorite dance in good society. General Washington, on at least two occasions, is recorded as having danced a minuet.

The lancers was the invention of Joseph Hart in 1819. The title page of his original edition of the music says it was danced by the nobility and gentry at Tenby in that year.

The polonaise is of Polish origin. In 1573 Henry III of Anjou was elected king of Poland, and among the ceremonies of his coronation was a stately march past the throne of all the nobility.

The word cotillon means petticoat. The dance seems originally to have been a sort of quadrille in which the skirts of the ladies were held in both hands and thrown from side to side as the dance progressed.

The schottische was so called from a popular idea that it was a Scotch dance. It really originated in Bohemia, and was introduced into England in 1848, where at first it was called the German polka.

The fandango is an Andalusian dance, accompanied by the guitar and castanets. It became musically known through its adoption by both Gluck and Mozart, the former using it in his ballet of Don Juan, the latter in Figaro.

The polka is said to be of Bohemian origin. It was made permanent in 1830 by a servant girl who lived at Elbeteinitz, the music for it being written down and published by a local musician named Neruda. It soon became popular and spread all over Europe.

The waltz is claimed by both the French and Germans. The former derive it from a Provence dance called "La Volta;" the latter from an old German dance named the "Drehtanz" or turning dance. This was introduced into France by Louis XIV after the conquest of Alsace.

The contre danse, miscalled country dance, is first mentioned in France, was taken to England, improved and reintroduced to the French in 1715, where it became popular. As a form of composition it has been a favorite, Beethoven having written no less than twelve, while Mozart has left a large number, and the contre danse form is common in Haydn's symphonies and concert works.

France has an anti-tobacco league, and the president of the affair has cordially endorsed the elevation of M. Casimir-Perier to the chief magistracy of the republic because the latter is not a smoker. "He does, occasionally, it is true, dip his hand into a cigarette box, but after a whiff or two he throws the poisonous weed away."

Bishop Arthur Cleveland Coxe of the Episcopal diocese of Western New York, has written a number of beautiful hymns. Some of Bishop Coxe's hymns are found in the collections of every religious body in America, except in the official collections of his own church. This is accounted for by his too scrupulous modesty; as a member of the hymnal committee in 1869 and 1871 he refused to permit the insertion of his own lyrics.

A Gross Act of Cruelty.

Why should we be cruel to ourselves? It is a piece of senseless inhumanity, for instance, for any one of us to inflict upon his bowles and stomach the convulsive, griping, violent action of a drastic cathartic. Many people enom red of pills, powders and potions are continually doing this. They are the only "keeping up the agony," perpetuating the disturbance by this foolish course. Why don't they take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and get horoughly and promptly set right? This supreme laxative never gripes, never produces violent effects of any sort But it is very effective and brings about permanet results. For liver complaint, dyspepsia, nervousness, lack of vitality, rheumatic and kidney complaints it is eminently serviceable. In old age and to accelerate convalescence it is strongly to be commended. Use it for malaria.
